- Most submissions received were from overseas and perhaps 1/3 of the submissions were from SC.
- Publications from year 2010 and 2011 were combined into one volume to draw near on schedule.
- Page charge is $55/page and the issues are all online. Reducing or eliminating page charges need to be revisited in the future

SC Entomological Society's Audit Report:

Dr. Merle Shepard provided the audit report and described the following.

The S.C. Entomological Society has a networth of $102,942.79 as of August 31, 2012. The moneys reside with three different companies BB&T, PayPal, and Tidelands Bank. The operating funds are 2 BB&T checking accounts. The Cochran Endowment is invested at Tidelands Bank: 2 CD's & 1 Savings acct. The JAUE funds are in a savings account at Tidelands Bank.

The separate accounts are valued at:

Cochran - $81,967.38

JAUE - $17,408.01

SCES - $ 3,567.40

All interest/dividends earned are credited to the Cochran account. Interest and dividend earnings for 2012 are $495.80. Further, Dr. Shepard mentioned that he has examined the books on October 8th 2012 with Randy McWhorter, the Executive Director for SCES, and have found everything is in order.

Executive Director's Report

Finance

The SC Entomological Society has a net worth of $102942.79 as of August 31, 2012. I defer to the Auditor's report for details.

Membership

We have seen membership numbers decline from 78 in 2007 to the low 40's during 8,9 10 to a low of 20 in 2011 but this year, 2012 we are up to 38.

IRS

The SCES/JAUE continues to maintain a 501(c)(3) incorporated status. An IRS form 990EZ was completed for 2011 and our gross receipts were $19271.98. The IRS form 990EZ contains a 5 year reconciled financial accounting of the SCES/JAUE operations. Although an IRS 990n, an electronic contact information form, was the only IRS/Federal requirement to be filed because our gross receipts were under $50,000.00, a new increased income limit for required filing.

Incorporation

The South Carolina Secretary of State (SC SOS) requires annual registration and a financial statement. This filing requirement has advanced to become a digital web submission and the registration fee has been withdrawn for charity organizations. The SCES 2011 IRS form 990EZ fulfills the SC SOS financial statement requirement.

SCES 2013 Positions:

The board consists of elected officers and committee members. A nomination was called and an election was conducted during the annual business meeting to select the Vice President. Members voted unanimously Laurie Reid as VP and Randy McWhorter as Treasurer

Other Business Discussed:

- Eric Benson mentioned that Entomology faculty is dwindling at Clemson and requested the members to be mindful of ways to promote the importance and relevance of entomology to the legislature and the Board of Trustee.
- Pat described that current undergraduate students in agribusiness are the best among the college and the trustees are taking notice. Spared the word to constituents about the importance and input from entomology to politicians and that we need to keep the momentum going.
- Sam Turnipseed was mentioned as an important contact.
- Pat further mentioned that the Clemson Entomology is nearing to 125 years and need to be celebrated.

President of 2012/2013:

Pat Zungoli was escorted by Paula and Bob into presidency, Brian Scholtens turned over the gavel to Pat Zungoli. Pat began his presidency with the first official business by extending his most sincere thanks to Brian Scholtens for serving as 2012 President and presented him with a ceremonial plaque.

- Pat announced that the next year's (2013) meeting tentatively set at Kresge Hall near the main campus as a first option or McCormick as a second option.
- Jeremy: Green suggested date for next year meeting and will be on October 3-4th 2013.
